PADECO

Message from the President

PADECO was founded in 1983 to address global challenges and has been contributing to international development for more than 40 years. With its experience and record of achievements, PADECO has become an internationally recognized development consulting firm.

The world is changing fast, and in the near future we can expect to fully enter a global era in which the distinction between domestic and overseas operations is no longer relevant. To compete globally in this environment, PADECO became a group company of Pacific Consultants in December 2023. We are convinced that by joining forces, Pacific Consultants, one of the leading construction consulting firms in Japan, and PADECO, with its wealth of experience in providing overseas development consulting services, will be able to increasingly add value and offer innovative solutions to the world.

Going forward, PADECO will continue to take on the challenge of solving problems in various fields around the world and contribute to the creation of a better global society.

Our Approach

A Multidisciplinary and Multicultural Background

While an individual is capable of providing results, the results of a team of capable multidisciplinary individuals are far beyond the sum of what each can provide. Our multicultured international staff strive to satisfy clients by not only relying on their specialties and backgrounds but also those of others in the world whenever appropriate. Our open culture encourages staff to seek answers in order to leverage the knowledge of our entire organization and beyond.

Pursuing Professional Answers Applicable in Particular Environments

Diverse projects call for creative solutions. Our client-focused and open attitude breeds flexible solutions in addressing today's most challenging problems by providing professional answers that are of universal excellence applicable to particular environments.
